For his part, Deep Water tells the story of a couple who fell from love and started playing mortal mental games with each other. Slowly but surely, those around them begin to die — dun, dun, dun...! The French Dispatch (Searchlight Pictures) Perhaps surprisingly, Wes Anderson, director of acclaimed films such as The Grand Budapest Hotel and Moonrise Kingdom, still has to win an Oscar. Here is hoping that The French Dispatch, his next movie, the nabs some season nomination awards. After all, Anderson has his aesthetics - something that has become a descriptor for other films that imitate the look of his. Besides, he and his inventive films still have to disappoint us. Photo Courtesy: Mustafa Yalcin/Anadolu Agency via Getty Images IndieWire reported that the film is intended to be "a love letter for journalists set to an outpost of an American newspaper in a French city of the 20th century" and focuses on three storylines. Anderson himself said IndieWire that "the story is not easy to explain. [It is a] American journalists based in France [who] creates his magazine. It is more a portrait of this man." The ensemble of the film is predictably glorious and includes Benicio del Toro, Saoirse Ronan, Kate Winslet, Elisabeth Moss, Willem Dafoe, Jason Schwartzman, Owen Wilson, Frances McDormand, Timothée Chalamet and Tilda Swinton — among many others. Last Night in Soho (Focus FEATURES) | September 25 The director Edgar Wright is known for his frenetic and frenetic thrillers and comedies, and his recordIt is quite incredible. Together with Simon Pegg, he wrote (2004), Hot Fuzz (2007) and The World's End (2013). He also adapted the graphic novel series Scott Pilgrim v. the World (2010) in a very beloved movie. Complimentary photo: Focus FEATURES/IMDb More recently, Wright co-wrote the screenplay for Marvel's surprise Ant-Man (2015), and amazed the audience with Baby Driver in 2017. The last night in Soho marks something a little new: Wright's attempt to nail the psychological horror genre. Not too much is known for the film, but its proven track record in combination with the movie stars — Thomasin McKenzie, Anya Taylor-Joy, Matt Smith, Diana Rigg and Terence Stamp — make it one to keep an eye on. I'm thinking about final things (Netflix) | TBD I'm thinking about Ending Things is the debut novel by Iain Reid, a psychological horror that was nominated for the Shirley Jackson Award. In the book, a man named Jake takes his nameless girl to meet his parents, who live on a remote farm. Before the trip, the nameless girl is thinking of ending things—and regret not to do it when the trip takes a terrifying turn. Photo Courtesy: StoThinkingOfEndingThings/IMDb Called the "strongest and most original literary thriller to appear in a certain time" from the Chicago Tribune, I'm thinking of Ending Cose seems to suit the right mind. Luckily for the audience, Charlie Kaufman, known for writing incredible films such as Adaptation (2002), Eternal Sunshine of the Spotless Mind (2004) and Synecdoche, New York (2008), is set to write and direct the film version of Reid's novel. The film also features a heavy atmosphere, including Jesse Plemons (Breaking Bad, The Master), Jessie Buckley (HBO Chernobyl) and Toni Collette (Hereditary, Knives Out).
